Farm Opens Friday, August 30

The farm will open Friday, August 30 this year. Dust out your baskets, pails and crushers!

There is a good crop of grapes this year - picking should be just fine.

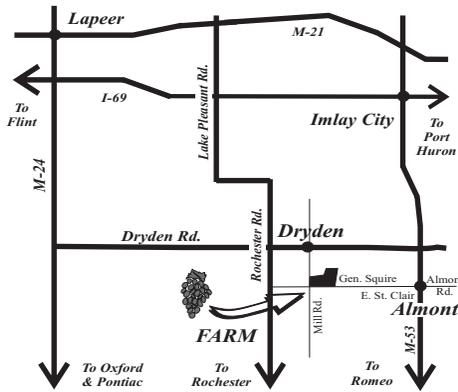

We have over 20 varieties of grapes to choose from when you come to our farm to pick.

There have been many problems with honey bees the last few years in the US and we only have about 1/3 of our normal colony count available. However thanks to many other local beekeepers we will have plenty of honey available at our Sales Stand.

Bring your pails and jars & we will fill them - $3.90/lb. Please do not bring containers with a small opening such as milk jugs, it is very hard to safely fill them.

Picking Tips...

Small pruning shears are ideal for picking grapes. You may bring your own or we will provide grape knives along with bags. Our grape knives are for adult use only. Heavy dew on the grass will make rubber boots useful for morning picking.

Our new grape CRUSHING facilities are extremely popular.

(NOTE - IT IS NOT A PRESS!)

Many people took advantage of our grape crushing area last year. We acquired a crusher-stemmer that was originally used at "Bailey Vineyards" in Troy many years ago by our friend Karl Bailey. Karl & the vineyard (now a subdivision) are no longer with us but his crusher lives on!

You provide your own pails and buckets and crush the grapes yourselves, we provide the crusher-stemmer and a hose for clean up. After crushing you will have crushed grapes with skins in it, you will still need to press it. We are not responsible for spilled grapes or juice. It is FREE to use the crusher-stemmer.

Large amounts of grapes are quite easy to pick and you get the best price. Most pickers (depending on variety) can pick from 1 to 2 or more bushels per hour. Bring your friends and get quantity discounts.

Since we no longer have grape juice available, many people now use the crusher and strainer bags that we have available at the vineyard.

The strainer bags are very useful if you do not have a press. You can ferment right in them for red wines or for whites you can still squeeze the juice out using them. Sometimes people ferment a day on the white skins to soften them in the strainer bags.

If there is still juice left in the bag, you can also try making a second run wine. Add more sugar and water and let it ferment. It will make another batch of wine - but much lighter in flavor and body.

White Wine Notes - I have had good luck the last few years with making a soft (or slightly sweetened) white wine with Cote Des Blancs yeast (available at the vineyard.)

This yeast doesn't like to ferment very much past 12%. Adjust your juice sugar level for 12% alcohol & ferment with Cote Des Blancs yeast. One month later add 8 oz. sugar per gallon of wine, then crush and add two cambden tablets per gallon, let stabilize 6 months. Many people also add one gram per gallon potassium sorbate at this time to keep it from re-fermenting.

Good News ... When you experience the fragrance of a field of wildflowers or an orchard in full bloom, envision this captured in a jar of our pure Michigan honey. The aroma emanates from the nectar in each flower. The bees collect this sweet nectar, return it to the hive and remove the excess moisture. This distilled nectar is honey! Because of the variety of clovers, trees, wildflowers and vegetables that grow in Michigan, our bees produce a honey of exceptional quality. We then extract, lightly strain, and package the honey into the many fine products marketed by Honeyflow Farm.

Bring your own containers and we will fill them from our 50 gallon barrel. $3.90/lb. for any amount. New 1 or 2 gallon pails are now available for sale at the vineyard for bulk raw honey. (Holds 12 - 24 lbs)

Honey Farm Notes

Bulk Raw Honey Price - $3.90/lb

Wildflower Honey ... Our wildflower honey has been warmed only to 135 degrees. Many large packers filter and heat at much higher temperatures to retain a longer shelf life. We prefer a more natural product that may only stay liquid for three to six months. If it solidifies, it is easily converted from it's granular state by placing the honey container in hot water for a few minutes.

Since most of the honey from our bulk tank is raw, remember that it is normal for it to granulate in a few months. Some honey may take longer depending on what type of flowers that the bees harvested the nectar from.

Observation Hive ... Did you ever wonder where the honeybees put all that nectar in those wooden boxes (hives) that beekeepers use? Our observation hive has plastic sides, safely keeping the honeybees in, while you watch them storing pollen and nectar. Sometimes you may even see the queen bee laying eggs. Come see nature at work.

Beeswax Candles ... We make Hand-dipped 100% Pure beeswax candles every winter. Each candle has been dipped 20 to 30 times into melted beeswax. Beeswax candles emit a distinctive scent and are longer burning. We produce more than 100 types of candles. Visit our on-line Candle Shop at honeyflowfarm.com to view our candle selection.
